FROGWATCH PROGRAM AT MILLER PARK ZOO

BLOOMINGTON – FrogWatch USA is a Citizen Science program of the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA) that offers individuals an opportunity to learn about the wetlands in their community, to identify local frog and toad calls and to report data.

If you have an interest in learning about frogs and toads, have the commitment to learn and identify individual frog calls, and the ability to regularly visit a local wetland for data collection from now until August you can be Citizen Scientist for Frogwatch.

“FrogWatch USA is a fun learning experience that is perfect for families of all sizes,” explained Silvia Schuh, Events Coordinator of Miller Park Zoo, adding “This is a great Summer activity for the whole family.”

Two training sessions will be hosted at Miller Park Zoo with Part One on Tuesday, March 15th from 6:00 PM – 8:00 PM and Part Two continuing on Thursday, March 17th from 6:00 PM – 8:00 PM with both meetings being held in the MPZ main classroom. Reservations are required. Reserve your space by emailing Silvia Schuh at sschuh@cityblm.org or call (309) 434-2826.

Miller Park Zoo is located at 1020 S. Morris Avenue, Bloomington and is open each day from 9:30 AM - 4:30 PM. For additional information go to www.millerparkzoo.org

For more information about any of the Zoo’s classes, programs or events contact the Zoo at (309) 434-2250.
