A key question was Main St.'s operations prior to the sanctions and did Main St. operate as a restaurant. Data was provided back to January 2012. In June 2012, Mr. Novotny provided information too late. The hearing was continued until the Commission's July 9, 2013 meeting date. Sanctions were continued and would be reviewed this date. Commissioner Tompkins questioned if there would be any future violations. Mr. Novotny responded negatively.

Commissioner Tompkins questioned food sales percentages. Mr. Novotny stated over fifty percent (50%).

Mr. Boyle noted that Main St. could remain open after midnight. Alcohol sales would not be permitted after this hour.

Commissioner Renner expressed his interest in a motion to continue the sanctions.

Mr. Zabek requested permission to question Mr. Novotny. There had been problems with the kitchen staff in April 2013.

Mr. Novotny cited issues with a cook who had closed the kitchen early on more than one occasion. The bartender had informed him of this and the cook was terminated. Staff had been informed to keep the kitchen open until midnight. There had not been any issues since April 2013. Closing the kitchen early was grounds for termination. He believed that he could document same. Food was offered until midnight.

Commissioner Renner noted that Mr. Novotny was responsible for his staff's actions. He questioned if Mr. Novotny was unaware of this violation.

Mr. Novotny had worked hard. He worked seven (7) days a week. He also cited the improvements to the property.

Commissioner Renner believed that the information was clear. He requested a motion to continue the sanctions.

Commissioner Tompkins noted his efforts to be involved as a Liquor Commissioner.

Mr. Boyle noted that evidence is presented at the public hearing. The sanctions had been violated. The Commission had not been provided with advanced notice.

Alderman Jordan expressed his understanding that this was an evidentiary hearing. He acknowledged Mr. Novotny's investment. He cited the sanctions. Mr. Novotny knew that the City would be watching. He should have been vigilant. Sanction removal was not in the City's best interest. A violation had occurred and this cast a shadow on Main St.

Mr. Novotny believed that the Commission had made a decision. He was a business owner. Main St. was open from 11:00 a.m. until close. He served the community. He noted that the Castle Theater located at 209 E. Washington St., did not serve food.

Commissioner Jordan restated that Main St. was open from 11:00 a.m. until close. He noted Main St.'s past history. He believed that he as owner would have been there.

Mr. Novotny believed that he had a good staff. He cited past compliance checks. Other Downtown restaurants had failed same.

Commissioner Jordan noted that if all obeyed the laws there would be no need for police enforcement. Main St.'s staff was not responsible for the liquor license.

Mr. Novotny stated that Main St. had gone two (2) years without a violation. Main St. was a restaurant in area saturated with taverns. He questioned who was being punished.

Commissioner Tompkins requested to call former Commissioner Richard Buchanan.

Commissioner Renner noted that Mr. Novotny believed that he had earned the right to continue operations. The key question was would Main St. be a restaurant or a tavern.

Mr. Zabek noted that Mr. Novotny was in compliance with the sanctions. He questioned when the sanctions would be lifted. Commissioner Renner stated when Mr. Novotny could convince him that Main St. was a restaurant.

Commissioner Tompkins expressed his opinion that the sanctions should be revoked.

Commissioner Jordan noted that a City police officer had testified that Main St. had violated its sanctions.

Commissioner Tompkins noted that there had not been a hearing on same.

Commissioner Jordan stated that the City had presented evidence. A police officer testified to fact. The sanctions had been violated. Main St.'s staff knew that there were sanctions.

Mr. Boyle noted that Commissioner Jordan had made a different point. The Commission needed to look at sales figures prior to November 2012. Liquor sales have exceeded food sales. The Commission needed to question the accuracy of this statement. He pointed to the evidence.

Mr. Novotny did not believe that the financial reports were complete. Amusement should be added to the food sales category. Main St. had started as a franchise (Show Me's). He had never operated a restaurant. The business had been known as Show Me's, Main St. and Main St. Bar & Grill. He described his business as a sports bar.

Mr. Boyle questioned if Main St. had functioned as a restaurant in any month prior to November 2012.

Commissioner Renner did not believe that Main St. had functioned as a restaurant prior to the sanctions.

Mr. Novotny stated that former Mayor Stephen Stockton had told him that the City would be lenient.

Commissioner Renner informed Mr. Novotny that as of May 1, 2013, there was a new Mayor/Liquor Commissioner.

Commissioner Tompkins expressed his concern regarding recent trends. The goal was for Main St. to become a restaurant. The requirement for food sales to be above fifty percent (50%) had been met.

Commissioner Renner addressed the sanctions role. Lifting the sanctions would send the wrong signal. Main St. could remain open until 2:00 a.m. Liquor sales would not be allowed after midnight.

Commissioner Jordan noted total sales for liquor and food. He cited the percentages under the sanctions and questioned how to insure compliance. He noted the police officer's testimony. Main St.'s past was an indication of business practices. Sanctions were having an impact upon the balance of food/liquor sales. Mr. Novotny had relied upon his employees. This action was not in the best interest of his business.

Motion by Commissioner Jordan, seconded by Commissioner Renner to continue the sanctions for Tjolo's Corp., d/b/a Main St. Grill, located at 517 N. Main St., currently holding an RAS
